Though it doesn't make much difference to me if "local" information/services are available on my satellite radio system, I do not like the idea of any restriction by our government on the right of satellite radio providers to broadcast whatever they please, as long as no laws are being broken. Satellite radio is a wonderful advancement in technology as it now allows me to have many choices on what to listen to when I am in areas of the country where radio choices are few and not varied. Please do not tie up our lawmakers or courts with trivial matters when so many more important items are on our country's agenda. Charles Vick
